

- Mexican latin ska band with 24 years of experience that has marked a trend in the Latin music scene.
- Recognized worldwide as a badge of Mexican rock with irrepressible energy on stage.
- The power of their lyrics transmits joy, tolerance and social sensitivity.
- 8 extraordinary and diverse composers, arrangers and musical producers that fuse ska, punk, rock and Latin rhythms in a unique style.
- They have recorded 7 studio albums and 2 live albums.
- It has transcended to North America, Central, South and a large part of Europe.
- More than 400 concerts in Europe since 2000.

- His thousands of fans have filled scenarios such as El Vive Latino 2018, La Arena Ciudad de México, Palacio de los deportes in Mexico, and Mexico City Zócalo on 2 occasions with Manu Chao singing for more than 150 thousand people.
- Main followers in Mexico, the United States, Central and South America, Germany, Czech Republic, Austria, Switzerland, France, Poland, Belgium and Spain.
- International Festivals: Hurricane, Southside, Area 4, Fusion Fest, Rock al Parque, Quito Fest, Neon Desert, Vive Latino, Coordinada, Pal Norte.
- They have alternated with bands like Molotov, Zoe, Radiohead, Metallica, Depeche mode, REM, Residente, Aterciopelados, Los Amigos Invisibles, Jamiroquai y Bunbury.
- Featurings: Vicentico, Rubén Albarrán, Oscar Chávez, María Barracuda, Mimi Maura, Ely Guerra, Ricardo Arjona, among others.
- In June of 2018 they released the single Deja vú (Tonantzin), the first single from their new record, coming to the premiere
- In October 2018 they released the second single El Último Ska, placing it at the top of the playlist on Spotify, YouTube and other digital platforms.
- On April 6 and 7 they had 2 sold out concerts at the Arena Ciudad de México, in the state of which they presented some songs from their new upcoming album.
- The video of their third single “Infiernos” was recorded in Germany, in emblematic and significant places for the band, a country in which they have many followers and are always well received.
- In May of 2019 they released their new album entitled “Infiernos”, which has been placed in the first places in sales both in physical and digital platforms.
- Throughout the month of July they will be touring the United States in 16 cities to present this new production and dance to the demons of all attendees.

3.1 M

744 K

329 K

2.3 M

185 K